Reasons for Allowance

Claims 50-52, 61 and 62 are allowed for the reason the prior art does not teach or suggest in claimed combination, "... placing a telephone call to the mobile communication device to establish a connection to mobile communication device and to place the mobile communication device in the second mode of operation in preparation for receiving printing information transmitted over the second wireless network..."

Claims 70 and 71 are allowed for the reason the prior art does not teach said printer including a controller having a printer port connected to the port of the mobile wireless communication device, the controller being configured to monitor and receive image printing information from the mobile wireless communication device which continues to operate in its Internet mode.

Claims 72 and 73 are allowed for the reason the prior art does not teach or suggest in claimed combination, "... printing including a controller having a printer port connected to the port of the mobile wireless communication device, the controller being configured to monitor and receive image printing information from the mobile wireless communication device which continues to operate in its Internet mode."
